Thank you for your interest in BJC HealthCare. Delivering high-quality care to the patients and communities we serve is at the heart of everything we do. We fulfill this mission through our 15 hospitals, five service organizations and hundreds of outreach services for residents in the greater St. Louis, southern Illinois and mid-Missouri areas.

How we sustain our mission — now and for the future — has long been our focus at BJC. Stability and stewardship allow us to deliver health care services needed by patients and families. They enable us to continue educating the next generation of health care professionals, support research and provide outreach services needed by members of the communities we serve.

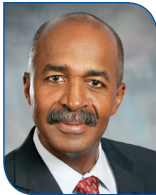

As a nonprofit health care organization, BJC is the largest provider of charity care, unreimbursed care and community benefit in Missouri, providing $904 million in free or reduced medical care, education of health professionals, medical research funding and community outreach programs.

As you will see in this book, there are many ways we support our patients, families, communities and colleagues. This support extends from rural areas to suburban locations and to an urban academic medical campus comprised of an adult hospital, a children’s hospital, a rehabilitation institute and a nursing school. Our hospitals range in size from 35 beds at Missouri Baptist Sullivan Hospital to more than 1,200 beds at Barnes-Jewish Hospital.

Contact information for our leaders is included in this book. They are ready to assist you if you have questions or comments about our hospitals, services or health improvement efforts.

BarnesJewish.org

Barnes-Jewish was created by the 1996 merger of Barnes Hospital and The Jewish Hospital of St. Louis. Each hospital brought a rich tradition of medical excellence to form the largest hospital in Missouri, an academic medical center affiliated with Washington University School of Medicine.

Recognized for its excellent nursing care, Barnes-Jewish Hospital was the first adult hospital in Missouri to be certified as a “Magnet Hospital” by the American Nurses Credentialing Center, and was redesignated in 2008 and 2013. In 2014, Barnes-Jewish Hospital was recognized with The Rising Star Award by University HealthSystem Consortium (UHC) for achieving the strongest improvement in a series of quality metrics among 120 academic medical centers.

Barnes-Jewish Hospital is consistently named to the Honor Roll of “America’s Best Hospitals” by U.S. News & World Report and is home to 12 specialties ranked among the best nationally including cancer; diabetes; digestive disorders; ear, nose and throat; geriatrics; gynecology; heart and heart surgery; kidney disease; neurology and neurosurgery; orthopedics; respiratory disorders; and urology.

Siteman Cancer Center at Barnes-Jewish Hospital and Washington University School of Medicine is the only National Cancer Institute (NCI)-designated Comprehensive Cancer Center in Missouri and within a 250-mile radius. In 2015, Siteman earned the highest rating awarded by the NCI. Siteman also is a member of the prestigious National Comprehensive Cancer Network.

Barnes-Jewish West County Hospital has been providing high-quality health care in a compassionate, healing environment since 1989. The hospital offers comprehensive diagnostic and therapeutic services such as a heart and vascular center; pulmonary function; radiology; a Siteman Cancer Center satellite; a sleep disorders center; interventional radiology and physical therapy and rehabilitation; as well as a full range of inpatient and outpatient surgical procedures including colorectal, urology, orthopedics, plastics, otolaryngology, digestive diseases, bariatrics and ophthalmology. The hospital has a da Vinci® surgical suite, an integrated critical care program utilizing a Tele ICU and bedside consulting from Washington University Physicians, as well as an interventional radiology suite.

The campus is currently being transformed through the construction of a new hospital and medical office building. Opening in 2019, the new hospital will have all private rooms, 14 operating rooms, and provide a healing environment that is modern and efficient. Located adjacent to Barnes-Jewish West County Hospital, Evelyn’s House, an 18,000 square foot ranch-style hospice house, opened in 2017. It offers warm, comfortable surroundings where hospice patients can receive specialized care that involves family members and caregivers.

Barnes-Jewish West County Hospital is proud to be partnered with Barnes-Jewish Hospital and has an elite blend of world-class physicians including Washington University Physicians, BJC Medical Group and private practice physicians — all in a convenient west St. Louis County location.

Missouri Baptist Medical Center offers a full continuum of medical and surgical services, including heart, cancer, women and infant's, breast health, gastrointestinal, orthopedic, stroke, therapy, wound and pain management services. The hospital has a 24-hour adult emergency department and cares for pediatric patients at a separate emergency department in collaboration with St. Louis Children's Hospital and Washington University physicians.

Missouri Baptist is the first and only hospital in St. Louis County to be named a Magnet® hospital by the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC). The prestigious designation is the highest credential a health care organization can receive for nursing excellence and quality patient care. Additionally, U.S. News & World Report ranked the hospital #2 in the St. Louis metro area.

Missouri Baptist worked with Select Medical Corporation to open a new long-term acute care hospital, a first for BJC HealthCare and St. Louis County. This unique 39-bed hospital-in-a-hospital specializes in the treatment and recovery of patients who require a prolonged length of stay.

To better meet the community's needs, Missouri Baptist also offers outpatient services in Sunset Hills and Rock Hill facilities, providing women's health, cancer, imaging and other services for patients in the southwest St. Louis region.

BJC Accountable Care Organization (ACO) is a group of employed and independent providers, hospitals and other health services that work together to promote the health and well-being of the populations it serves through quality patient-centered care. The BJC ACO is focused on achieving better patient-centered health outcomes and costs savings by improving care coordination; expanding evidence-based care delivery models across BJC; and developing a structure that provides sharing of cost savings to ACO participants.

The BJC ACO has a program to improve patients' overall health and manage their multiple and complex needs. The telephonic care management program partners with providers and is designed to help patients overcome barriers to improved health by promoting patient self-management and achievement of personal health goals.

In January 2012, The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid (CMS) began establishing ACOs to encourage groups of physicians, hospitals and other providers to coordinate health services for patients covered by Medicare and to share in savings obtained through high-quality, well-coordinated care. BJC HealthCare was the first provider in the St. Louis area and one of 89 health care provider organizations from across the country chosen in July 2012 as an ACO by CMS. Currently in its sixth year, the BJC ACO is one of 26 Track 3 ACOs across the country.

BJC Help for Your Health is a health service organization comprising both BJC’s employee wellness program and BJC’s outreach efforts to help improve the health of the community. BJC Help for Your Health encourages BJC employees to live healthier lives as part of the Total Rewards program. Employee wellness offerings include free annual health screenings, weight management, fitness and smoking cessation programs, and health awareness incentives.

In addition, BJC Help for Your Health provides wellness and preventive health information and services to other employers, community organizations and the general public. At health events throughout the region, BJC provides health education programs, screenings for certain diseases, and weight management and smoking cessation seminars. BJC’s School Outreach and Youth Development provides services to public, private and parochial school districts in Missouri and Illinois. OASIS, a national nonprofit educational organization for adults age 50 and older, offers challenging lifelong learning, health improvement and civic engagement opportunities.
